

Local Government and State Aid: An Essay on the Effect on Local Administration and Finance of the Payment to Local Authorities of the Proceeds of Certain Imperial Taxes (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Local Government and State Aid: An Essay on the Effect on Local Administration and Finance of the Payment to Local Authorities of the Proceeds of Certain Imperial Taxes This essay, which was awarded the prize under the Warburton Trust by the Owens College, Manchester, at the beginning of the present year, was originally written in the long vacation of 1897. It has since been revised and expanded, and, wherever necessary, brought up to date. It is, nevertheless, issued very much in its original form, with those defects in proportion which can hardly be avoided when discussion is directed to a special subject implying portions of two sciences which are still fields for controversy. Whenever the treatment appears light-handed, the reader is asked to believe that it is due, in some degree, to the writers fear of being carried far, and for long, from the special subject of the essay. The author desires to express his great obligations to Prof. A. W. Flux for many valuable criticisms and suggestions: and, further, to thank Mr. K. T. S. Dockray for his careful reading of the proofs. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
