

Development Communication in Action: Building Understanding and Creating Participation

Development and Communication in Action provides the missing link between theory and practice in the field of development communication and social change. Dr. Moemeka begins with a look at the historical and cultural dimensions of development communication, then moves into merging theory with practice, and concludes with a section on case studies. By putting flesh and blood into theoretical perspectives, Dr. Moemeka points out how to successfully apply theory, models and modules for use in developing countries. Development and Communication in Action will be of great interest as a teaching instrument for development communication teachers and professors, as well as social change practitioners.
