Weve done the research for you - link directly to over 200 real companies and use our sample resume and cover letters to find your dream job today. Working from home provides a great opportunity to stay connected to your family and community, while still being productive and providing an income. The advantages of working from home include flexibility, huge financial savings and even health benefits. There is no boss hovering over you in a remote job, no commute, no dress code and no office politics. Studies have also repeatedly shown that remote workers are much more productive than those working from a company office - a total of 47% of people who have the option to telework are very satisfied with their jobs, compared to 27% of those who are office-bound. Parents enjoy working from home because it lets them spend more time with their loved ones and schedule their day around the family instead of the other way around. Financial benefits include money saved on lunches eaten out, transportation, dry-cleaning and the largest one being child care costs. The largest problem youll encounter is how to stop wasting time on scam job sites during the hunt. Real remote job positions are not widely advertised and doing a Google search for them is a complete waste of time. Weve verified every entry in our list of proven companies so you can feel comfortable and save tons of time.
