

Attitude of female Iranians toward therapy due to acculturation

Attitudes of female Iranian immigrants toward mental health as a result of their level of acculturation. This was part of my doctoral project research at Massachusetts school of professional psychology. I choose this topic since I am an Iranian female who immigrated to the United States. I did a survey of Iranian immigrants giving them two different questionnaire. one was measuring their level of acculturation and one was their attitude towards mental health.
